Dear Sue,

Dad, I'm going to cry all over your book. I really don't know what I'm going to do with myself after you're gone. Who could ever ask for a better friend than you - you've given me confidence, encouragement, fun, laughs, and understanding; all that you could ask of a friend. Gosh, think of all the fun times we've had - being frust together. Well, I've started you on the road to Sin - smoking, drinking, cussing - but think how dull life would have been without it. Remember when you hadn't had a date with a guy from Webster - quite a few have come and gone since then. I'll keep my eye on Nemo & my fingers crossed that he writes. I'm really glad you've gotten some of the honors you deserved this year, you were darling in Coronation & I'm proud that you are one of my best friends. Actually, I'm closer to you than anyone I know & I hope it always stays that way. Seattle will love you and your family Sue, because they're aren't a nicer bunch of goons around. Please come back and stay with me for a long while next year. Maybe someday we'll rent an apartment & be "party dolls" together - wow! You're such a wonderful girl that I don't need to wish you success, the world is begging for people like you. Flash those eyes, give ~~em~~ em the old one-two-and knock that town on its ear.

Love & luck forever,

Cindy Chambers.

Dear Sue,
Our suffering is nearly over. But,

So you're moving to Seattle. That's bad but I know that you'll

I hope every thing will go well for you. See you soon! Best regards and a lot of love to all!

Judy Hayes

Dear Bear,

I hate to think that you're going to leave these hallowed bounds and chug up to Seattle but I guess "If we work upon marble it will perish, if on brass, you must. time will efface it, if we rear temples, they will crumble into dust; but if we work upon immortal minds and imbue them with principles and the just fear of God and another love of our fellow men, we engrave on those tablets something that will brighten all eternity." like we have managed to have in the near past.

—Daniel Webster

You know you're always welcome and I hope you'll come back and visit all the time. But if not, pick up your pen and tell me about your gay school times at U of W. But just think of the lovely times I'll be having at Washout. Did you know the Betas are building a new landing field?

No kidding. See, I'm sorry you're leaving. and The Echo please do write.

Dear Sue, (better known as Harry) wee finally the time has come where we will be leaving dear ole Webster. It hardly seems possible that the time has gone by so quickly.

These are the cornerstones of our today on which our tomorrows are destined to be built.

Sometimes I wonder what I would have done if it didn't. I'm so glad I got to know you so well this year. It's been fun going to stage, parties etc.

together. You're real a great gal and loads of fun to be with. We sure are going to miss you when you move to Washington next year. Knowledge comes, but wisdom lingers. Will have to do a lot before you move. I won't say bye now, cause I know we'll see lots of you before you leave. Best of luck and I'm sure you'll be a great success in whatever you do in the future. Don't forget to write me next year. Be good.

Love ya, Sally L

Sue — I hate you — I hate you — I hate you.
you're ugly ; ugly ; even uglier than me. "Alas! it is not till time has torn half the leaves from

I like you. (I won't go to Heaven)

Dear Sue,

Youh it's been so much fun this year! I'm so glad we've been together more, in gym & sometimes at stage & staff. I sure wish you weren't moving away from us, at this time. Know ye not that they that run in a race run all, but one receiveth the prize. One must happenest in your new home. I want to meet you working on "We are of little clamy," with you. Nobody can see you & you like we can! You're really fun to be up with, always keep your sense of fun. Good luck always!

Dedication

Our lifetime has seen the tremendous gains in study of partly redundancy of investment between the old mechanical systems and the new, and more than this. We can claim now that the shadow of the future is lifted upon us and we even strive to factor in the next that will give off its enshrouding cloud.

Worship is a natural expression of a saved heart profiting by the love of a heavenly Saviour, who vindicated a truth that people had forgotten in the scripture, and gave it in the mouth of the people whom God hath chosen as His people in His earth. The birth of Jesus shall, in calling us together, have a hard time of it with one voice, the whole earth shall sing His praise.

With faith in the Resurrection and constant remarkable determination that by all we are it, and, unto that we dedicate The ECHO to the Brethren - I would assure you give us peace.

As I sit here at my desk I am writing this letter to you.

The last time we met at the middle I com-

My brother and I were talking about the house I had in mind and he said,

In Memoriam

DR. LEONARD A. STEGER

Dr. Leonard A. Steger is in large measure responsible for the present high standing of the Webster Groves school system. His courage and his strong convictions won for him the true respect of all who knew him and especially the young people of Webster for whom he did so much. All of us feel keenly the loss of his leadership; yet we can but be thankful for the benefit we draw from the many accomplishments he left as his own memorial. We cannot commemorate his life nearly as well as Dr. Steger himself did by living it in the service of others.

the Student Guidance Council was organized to function as the judicial branch of Webster's student government. Very few St. Louis area schools had this type of council and Webster had good reason to be proud of the work it did.

The purpose of the council was to help students who had broken school rules to realize their mistakes. The names of the offenders were submitted to the council by the student guides. No punishment was inflicted. Friendly discussion and guidance helped the student become a better citizen and the school a better place to attend. Headed by Fin Guffey and Don Oliver, the council was composed of ten members. Each of these representatives was chosen by his respective

Senior Student Council

The organizer of successful projects, the technically important force behind numerous school activities, the main promoter of school spirit, and the legislative and executive branches of Webster's student government for the 1947-48 year was the Senior Student Council.

The council lived up to its main purpose of promoting the general welfare of the Webster student and was composed of forty-two members elected respectively from their grades. Under the leadership of Fin Guffey Student Body President, and Don Oliver, Senior School President, and under the sponsorship of Mr. Newton Settle, the council had meetings on alternate days, 5th hour. It discussed problems of the school, and planned the work of its various committees. The council also took part in an assembly of the St. Louis County high school governments, where various common problems were discussed. This county council met monthly.

Many traditional school events found their origin in the Student Council. Among the numerous activities it sponsored throughout the year were Hello Day, Football Week, Basketball-Wrestling Week, Color Day, Pep Rally, The Dance Carnival, and Spring Sports Day.

Three parties were given by the council during the year; the Faculty Tea, the New Student Party in the fall, and the Alum Party held after the Kirkwood-Webs. basketball game in December. The annual magazine campaign was also a student council responsibility, and was again successful.

In the line of service to the school, the council sponsored the Cheerleaders, the Activity Ticket, the coke machine, the lost and found and elections. The council also worked with the guidance council in the choosing of lunchroom and hall guides.

School assemblies also come under the jurisdiction of the student council, and each year the group itself puts on an explanatory program to keep the students informed on the council plans and projects.

The Junior Student Council composed of twenty-five regular representatives met once a week after school. The council served more as a contact between the faculty and the junior school than as a lawmaking body. Members gave guides for new students in the school and helped the faculty to plan the assembly programs for the Junior School. The council had several well defined responsibilities. It was each council member's responsibility to attend at the "C" team games to promote the magazine sales campaign, and to act as a representative of the junior school student body.

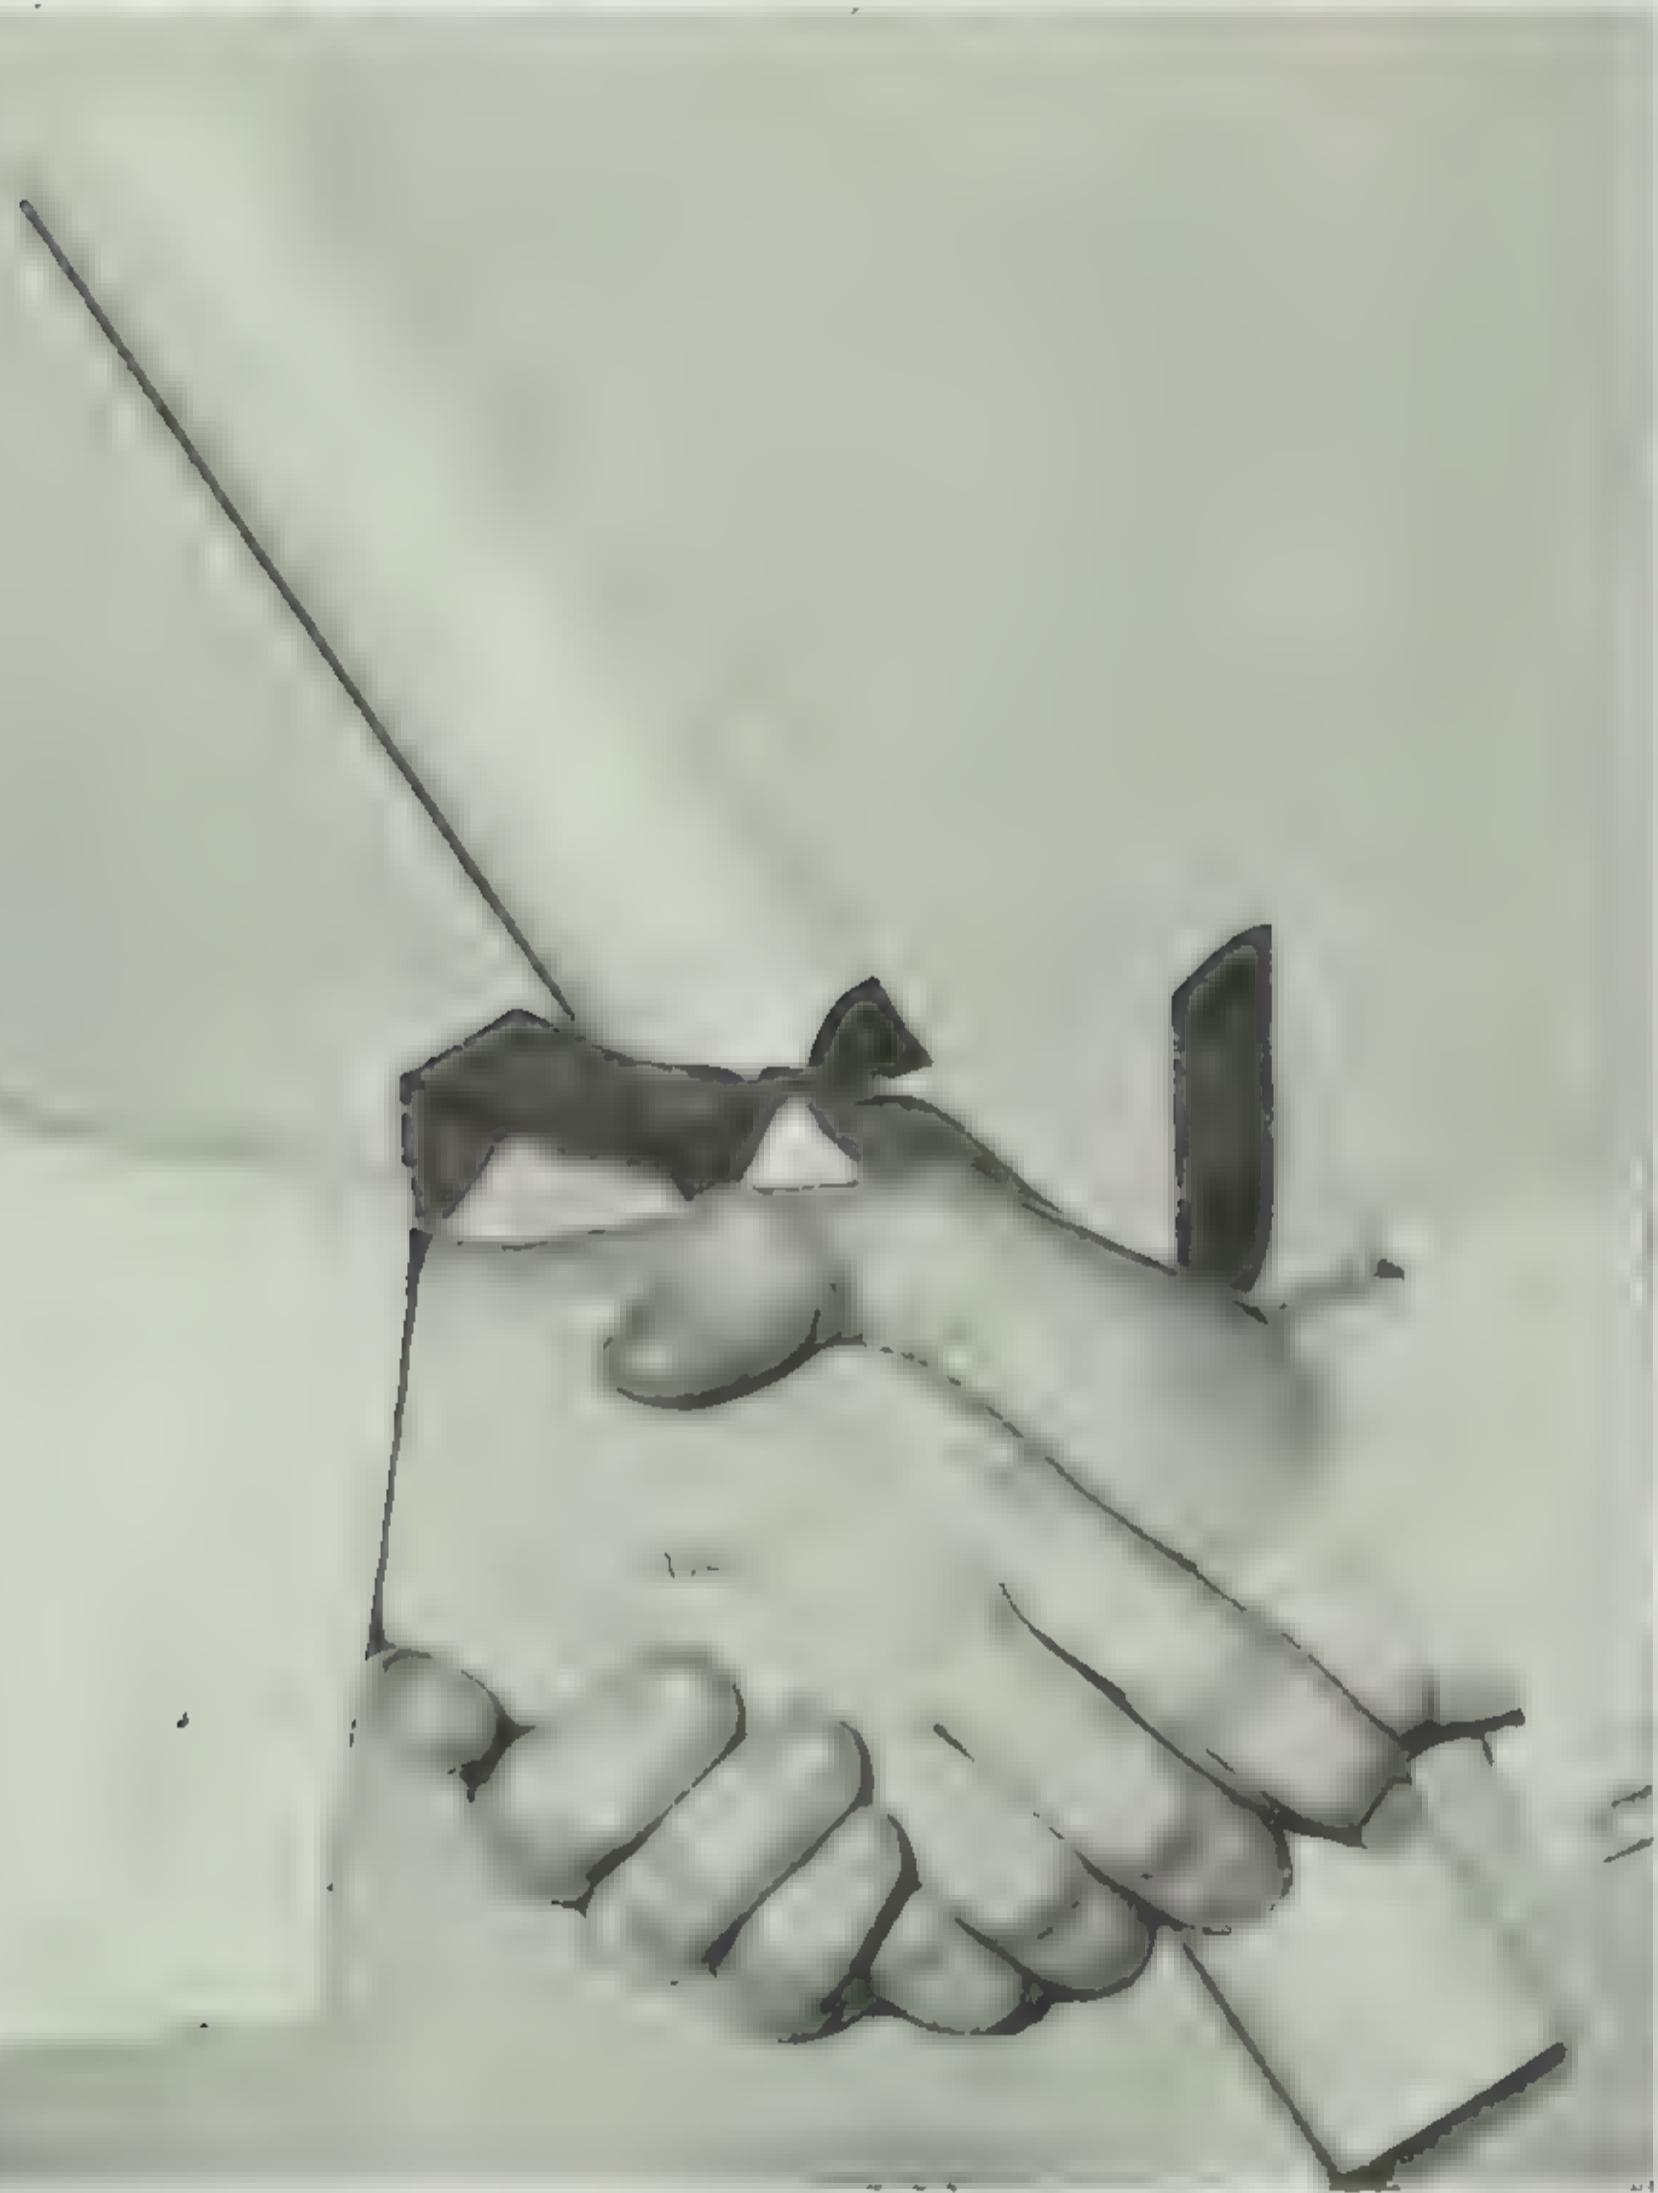

Monitors

The Junior Class Monitors, sponsored by Miss Brantley, had authority in the cafeteria during the first lunch period. They maintained order by preventing students from running, from cutting in line, and from taking food for others. Another of their duties was to see that the cafeteria was kept in good condition for the second and third lunches. The Monitors gained the respect of the school students by seeking fair play and justice. Those students who were not members of the Junior Class were chosen as Junior Class Monitors. The others were chosen by capacity were chosen by Miss Brantley after recommendations of the faculty. Those who had had the boys in their classes for the last three years suggested the suggestions of the Junior Class.

In Memoriam

WALLY CHEE

Wally Chee, 21, of San Francisco, died Saturday morning at the University Hospital after a long illness. He was born in San Francisco on Sept. 1, 1927.

He was a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity at the University of California, Berkeley, where he was a student of engineering. He was a member of the San Francisco Legion of Honor.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wally Chee; a brother, John Chee, of San Francisco; a sister, Mrs. John C. Smith, of San Francisco; and a half-sister, Mrs. John C. Smith, of San Francisco.

Services will be held at the University Hospital at 10 a.m. on Monday.

In Memoriam

CYNTHIA GORDON

The fatal automobile accident which took Cynthia Gordon from our midst left sadness in the hearts of her many friends. Those who knew Cynthia well remember a cheerful, optimistic person, a loyal friend, and an outstanding student. Her classmates remember Cynthia for her cheerful smile and friendly greeting as they passed her in the halls.

Even though Cindy is no longer among us, there is consolation in knowing that she "has been called to a higher school, served by the best teachers, learning the best things, in the best possible manner."

Twenty Outstanding Seniors

Every year the problem of selecting twenty seniors for this group is a difficult one. This year it was decided to have each student present her own picture.

The James T. Hixon Award

The Senior Student Council of 1955 established an award to recognize seniors for outstanding performance in the fields of leadership, scholarship, sportsmanship and service. The award is named in honor of Mr. James T. Hixon, who for thirty-six years served as principal of Webster High School. The life of the award is ten years. Each winner is presented with an engraved certificate, and his name is inscribed upon a trophy which is the permanent property of the high school.

To be eligible for an award, a senior must present the general qualifications of having maintained a 2.0 or better scholastic average and of having attended Webster Groves High School during both his junior and senior years.

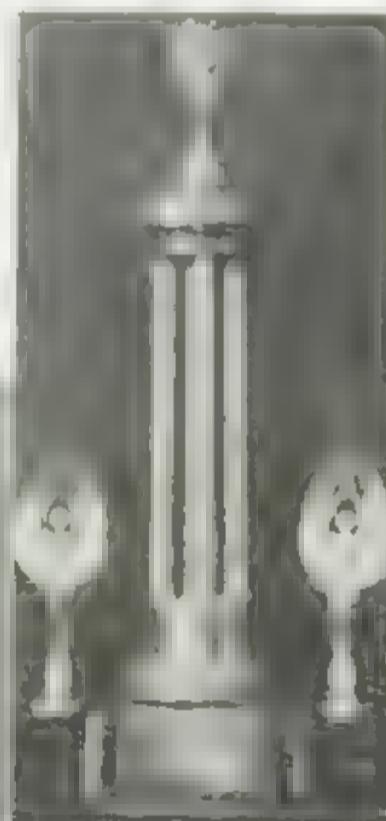

The winners of the Scholarship Award shall be the highest ranking boy and the highest ranking girl in the graduating class. One Sportsmanship Award shall be given to the boy who wins the Roberts Trophy. The other Sportsmanship Award shall be given to a girl chosen in the following manner; senior girls who have accumulated at least one thousand points shall nominate five of their number; a faculty committee shall choose as winner one girl from this list of candidates. In the fields of Leadership and Service, the Senior Class shall nominate five boys and five girls on the basis of their qualifications in the respective fields; a faculty committee shall choose as winners one boy and one girl from each list of nominees.

On Saturday night, the Senior Class held their annual dance at the Dance Gymnasium. A game between the Junior and Senior boys it is to buy it in the market; money and gold have a value.

One of the first items at every Junior year is the Junior Prom. This year it was held on March 9 in the Junior gymnasium. The prom committee, which was headed by I... and Bruce Knowles, was divided into several committees, each headed by one of the cabinet members. These were: publicity, a...; finance, library, clean-up. The Juniors selected six candidates for Junior Queen. These were: Linda Dominguez, Susan Geodecke, Lee R... Susan Woods and Marge Yates. From these girls the students voted for one and Dave Harten, class president, crowned Susan Geodecke the Junior Queen for 1957.

The Juniors felt that they were halfway to being Seniors when they received their class rings in May. The selecting and ordering of the rings, which was done in January, took much organization on the part of the students. The year's activities were brought to a close by a spring get together which was planned by several students from the cabinet and headed by a cabinet member.

As the sophomores began their year, they found that many new activities were opened to them. Some of these were: G.A.A., Latin Club, Beginning Choir, Dramatics Club and class team sports. One of the privileges which the sophomores looked forward to when they entered the senior school was the opportunity to elect their own representatives to the Senior Student Council and the Senior Guidance Council. These privileges gave the sophomores a better understanding of how student government worked.

A student had a conference with his counselor, Miss McClain, to plan members headed the committee which included refreshments, games, and prizes. Besides the "student government" the "added features" committee was organized to develop novel ideas that would make the sophomore dance "different." Members of the cabinet sat on the cabinet tables ready to volunteer for work. The students worked to promote student participation in the appropriate theme of the dance. A student who was chosen to represent the student who would be the center of the dance.

Being normal in a school where sophomores put stress not only on social activities but also on sports. The "B" football team showed its ability by finishing first in the Urban League. The sophomores were also proud of their basketball team, which not only compiled a fabulous record but also displayed sportsmanship on the court.

The class of 1960 was supervised and governed by a class cabinet made up of home-room presidents and was under the guidance of Miss Lilly Epps. The cabinet, composed of Jerry Tieman, Jack Werner, Leni Taggart, Bill Peukert, Phil Page, Alan George, and Jack Anderson, laid the basic plans for the class activities, and the boys presided at cabinet and class meetings and assemblies on a rotating basis. Leadership and experience were the key notes of the cabinet's training.

During the year, the Freshmen yelled with their pep squad, played on intramural teams, waltzed and tangoed at Sutters, and attended numerous meetings of the Junior Red Cross, Junior Student Council, and the Junior Library Club. Also on their calendar were conferences with their counselor, a gala evening at their spring "fun nite" party, and many hours of study.

With the shared responsibility of the ninth grade teachers, and the interest of the parents the class should be a success in years to come.

The eighth grade, from the fall of 1958 when they entered the little school, began the job of organizing their class. With Mr. Robert Smith as their counselor, the Class of 1961 elected a representative and a delegate from each homeroom to form a cabinet of sixteen. At its after school meetings with Mr. Smith, the cabinet planned for the class activities such as the Echo picture and their spring dance.

One of the unusual features of the class was that the students were able to join newly organized Tri-Hi-Y groups. Volunteer students from the Junior and Senior classes helped the clubs by sponsoring and organizing them.

The boys of the eighth grade participated in Intramural sports on Tuesday afternoons, and the girls had their sports program also.

The eighth grade promises many good things in the years to come.

Enrolling in Webster High in the fall of 1956, the seventh graders entered into a new world of strange faces, endless halls, innumerable excuses and tardy rules, uncooperative lockers, a crowded cafeteria, different teachers each hour, unlimited clubs and activities, and of course, classes in subjects all quite new to them. However, with the aid of their capable sponsor, Miss Inez Howard, and the election of home room presidents, the class soon became a united body and proceeded to carry on their part in the vast program of Webster High.

The elected presidents of each homeroom were: Jack Vrowley, Pat Durham, Bruce Hilby, Jean Spencer, Mike Huston, Bill McClaren, Jack Combs, Roger Foster, and Thomas Zatumski.

A newly introduced beginning Spanish and French program had its second year, for those students recommended by their grade school teachers. Dramatics, speech, crafts, and orchestra were also popular subjects with the seventh grade.

The Echo

Every afternoon in room 203 preparations were made for the 1956-57 Echo. The staff for the yearbook was chosen late in the spring of 1956 and enthusiasm began its work early in September.

The production of the annual was divided into several departments, each supervised by the editor. The advertising department sold their "ads" to businessmen in the local area. Their task was begun at the first of the year with one member of the staff participating. It was the duty of the literary staff to write the articles for each class and each activity featured in The Echo. The business manager controlled the finances, and the photographers took the informal pictures. The circulation department managed all sales during the year and the distribution at the close of the school. Special credit is due the hard-working typists who assisted the writers and the circulation department.

To help finance this edition, the staff operated the book store in the morning, sold candy and Turkey Day buttons, and sponsored the bowling pin booth at the Dance Carnival. Exceeding last year's sales by a wide margin the advertising department contributed its share.

The Coronation of the Echo Queen and the Coronation Ball highlighted the social calendar for the staff. The Coronation Court, consisting of eighteen girls and six special maids, was chosen by the Senior Class. The Echo Queen was then selected by the sophomore, junior and senior grades. The members of the staff enjoyed a Christmas party in December and a banquet held in May at which the first copies of the 1957 Echoes were distributed.

The Webster Echo

As in past years, the Webster Echo has brought well-rounded and complete news coverage to the students at Webster High. Many new ideas were presented to the subscribers in columns that were originated this year. They were: "Lazbo's Lookout," "The Midnight Oil," and "S. M. W."

The paper met expense through the activities of the fund, the magazine sales campaign and the sale of programs at the Turkey Day Game. Another source of income was the Paper Doll Prom, which was, as always, a big success.

Although there is a lot of work involved, the staff will long remember their experience.

Journalism

In order to be in the Journalism Class, a student had to try out by writing several articles for Mrs. Lanagan, the sponsor of the Webster Echo.

The class met on alternate days in Room 311 and was kept busy learning how to publish a good newspaper. After approximately six weeks of training the students were given assignments of writing articles for the paper.

The class also enjoyed several social activities. Among these were the Christmas party given for the alums, and the annual banquet held in the spring at which the new editors were announced.

Quill and Scroll is a national honorary society which recognizes those students who have done outstanding work in some phase of high school journalism. Members are selected from The Echo and The Webster Echo staffs.

In order to be eligible for the Quill and Scroll, a student must be in the upper third of his class; he must be supervised by a supervisor appointed by the principal; and he must be recommended by the chapter by a national committee.

The chapter of the national society at Webster was chartered in 1927 and named after Joseph Pulitzer, the founder of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Being a member of Quill and Scroll has always been regarded as one of the highest honors awarded to Webster students.

Once again the National Forensic League had a busy year. The members participated in debate, oratorical declamation, and humorous, radio, dramatic, and extemporaneous speaking.

Heading the list of activities was the annual "Junior Town Meeting of the Air," which was heard over KXOK. The members had another chance to speak in front of a large audience in the Christmas program held at the Webster Groves Public Library. The debate team visited many of the St. Louis and St. Louis County high schools to participate in contests, and also entered several tournaments held at St. Louis and Washington Universities, bringing several first-place cups to Webster.

The club ended a very successful year by holding its annual spring picnic, at which next year's officers were elected.

The Dramatics Club composed of students from the ninth through twelfth grades, presented one three-act play, "Sight Unseen," and several one act plays. They also produced and directed plays given by the seventh and eighth graders.

Since the club is based on the hours system, a student must have worked on productions for a certain amount of time to earn membership. As they acquire hours, the members rise to different brackets which make them eligible for holding major offices, directing plays, and eventually qualifying for Thespians.

Thespians is an honorary society that recognizes the students who have done outstanding work in the field of dramatics. To qualify for membership a student must spend one hundred hours in dramatics activities. Thirty of these hours must be earned for work behind scenes. Average grades and a genuine interest in dramatics are also required.

After the major productions which were "Nothing But the Truth," "Antigone," and "Kind Lady," an initiation was held for new members. The Thespians have always done a superior job in providing the students and community with an excellent variety of plays and are an important part of Webster's activities.

Nothing But the Truth. a farce by George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart. It deals with the life of a boy who has a secret he does not want to avoid. In the play the boy makes a bet with his father that he can tell nothing but the truth in twenty-four hours. He discovers that it is dangerous to always tell nothing but the truth.

Valley High's Dick Leland makes a bet against Bob Bennett, invites him to visit Ralston, and when Ralston hears of this he goes to the school and provides a rather uncomfortable home life for E. M. until the bet is settled.

Time Out For Ginger. a comedy by George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart. It deals with the life of a girl who wants to make a speech at the school assembly. The whole uproar develops because she makes a speech about the rights of boys and girls and says "Boys should be allowed to do what they want to do." The students take her seriously, and when the orders of the principal, Bob Vassar, are carried out, she is made him to do what she wants to do. At the bank it is discovered that she is a girl, Ginger. She is ridiculed by some of the boys because of Ginger. Football playing (she made the second string), and it also leads to strained relations between her and her boy friend, Terry. However with the end of the school year, things again right themselves.

Antigone. a tragedy by Jean Anouilh, is a tragicomical play and therefore lends itself to a dramatic setting and a non-representation of the scene. It consists of platforms, steps and a balcony.

Antigone is the daughter of Oedipus and Creon is the King of Thebes. As it is a tragedy, Antigone is the one who is condemned; however Creon is the one who is condemned for those nearest him are dead and the people of Thebes now hate him. A Chorus in the play was the Chorus of the play told the audience exactly what was going to happen. This is a carry over from the ancient Greek stage.

The Statesman Show Band, composed of ninety members, worked under the direction of Mr. Henry Lemcke. The band was a familiar sight at the home football games and helped to promote the excitement and spirit of both the team and the spectators.

Hours of hard work were behind the outstanding performances they gave at the games. For each program the band had to learn at least six new marching formations, as well as new music. As leader of the torchlight parade the band also contributed to the excitement of the Pep Rally.

Besides its functional activities, the band enjoyed social activities such as the annual picnic in the spring and the Frosty Fantasy Dance in December.

Throughout the year the choir sang at P.T.A. group service club meetings, the annual school fair, the Christmas holidays A Capella Concert, traditional Vesper Service, singing and the fun assembly.

In the spring the members culminated a year of hard work and much fun by presenting a program for the students and community.

The members of Beginning Choir began the year enthusiastically by an evening get-together. The Choir had been divided into groups which prepared skits for that night and since most of them were on the humorous side, talented comedians were soon discovered. After the skits, refreshments were served while the group sat in a circle and sang. The evening helped everyone become better acquainted and learn the Choir's plans for the year.

Probably the most memorable experience for Beginning Choir was taking part in Vespers. It was the first time for most of the members to participate in the beautiful service that they, as an audience, had loved for several years before.

Because the state Latin paper had been discontinued, Miss Farmer and her staff provided each school in state with a Latinus Rumor. More stress on sophomore participation in editing the paper was emphasized than in previous years, and a typical Latinus Rumor included jokes, news from "alums," and articles on Roman traditions.

Occasionally these smaller clubs met together under officers elected from the third and fourth year classes for films and talks on France by guest speakers in an effort to become better acquainted with the culture of the French people.

Cheerleaders

This year's cheerleaders had the spirit and cooperation that very few squads before them had. Led by their competent captain, Carolyn Hall, and with the assistance of their sponsor, Mrs. Hiller, they began learning and perfecting their fifty-six cheers during the summer. Through the year they introduced four new ones: With a "T." B-E-A-T. The Team is in a Bind and Fight to Win, all of which have proved very popular. In order to improve the strength and solidarity of Webster's cheering section the cheerleading squad organized a pep club, which for several years had been missing from the Webster sports scene. The pep club gave the cheerleaders a core of strength in the middle of the stands, which has greatly needed.

Basketball, football, and pep assemblies were sparked by the enthusiasm of the 1956-57 Pep Club. Operating under a new plan of limited membership and under the leadership of Mrs. J. Hiller, the club chose members from those who sought membership by petition. The purpose was to promote school spirit by having an organized organization and to present delegations to other schools at games.

The club, composed of fifty-six junior and senior girls, introduced a card and white section at games, and colored shakers and a rattling action cheer. Other club activities included a cookie sale booth in the Dance Carnival, and a pre-dinner in February.

The Student Librarians reached this goal by spending many hours learning library skills and working with books during their study halls, free periods, and before and after school. In addition to their help in the library, Mrs. Gearin had more time to devote to the students.

Meetings were held once a week after school at which problems of the library were discussed. In December, Miss Bynum showed her movies of Scotland at the assistants' annual Christmas party.

From each class of junior school students that met in the library, four assistants were chosen to serve as librarians, while other volunteers worked after school and at lunch time. It was through his many efforts that the group was welded together by strong friendship and a program of balanced activity, contributing much time and effort to all phases of school life.

In its early years the club set a pattern that was to continue by winning the Metropolitan Saint Louis YMCA Basketball Tournament, participating in World Service, sending a representative to Youth in Government, and joining in the fellowship which is so outstanding in "Y" programs. In the recent year two of the club's main projects were publishing the Buzz Book and co-sponsoring the Friendship Dance.

The 1956 season for the hard working grid iron squad was a difficult up hill battle, practicing and fighting most of the season in scorching weather for a .500 record. In his fifteenth year as Webster's head football coach, Mr. Raymond Moss, along with Mr. Leonard Bryant, worked with a great group of players to turn out one of Webster's best teams, despite what the record might depict.

The seasons opener found Webster tumbling its way to a hard fought loss at the hands of the Roosevelt "Roughriders," 14-6. The second contest provided better results for the Statesmen as they won in the last seconds, over Southwest, 25-20. Trekking into the foothills the Statesmen were outclassed by the new Parkview High School of Springfield in their second loss 27-0. The C mets of Ferguson were defeated next by one touchdown, 14-7. The team fought hard against Normandy, outrushing the Vikings but not outscoring them in a 7-7 tie. The sixth game was played in a steady rain where a surprising number of loyal Webster fans, only to lose a heartbreaker in the last minute as Ritenour literally slipped by Webster, 13-7. Webster romped over Maplewood at the opposition's homecoming in a 19-7 victory. The Statesmen's fine defense lacked help of the offense as they lost to the Suburban league champs from U. City, 7-0. With spirits high the Webster squad beat Kirkwood in the 49 year old Turkey Day rivalry by a score of 7-0, thus grabbing the coveted Frisco Bell and returning the Little Brown Jug to the

The 1956-57 varsity basketball team was a very outstanding one. The squad consisted of fifteen excellent players including several veterans, a handful of 'B' team graduates, and a gift from the lead belt town of DeSoto. It was from these boys that Mr. Yates was able to pick the best offensive team he has ever had. This team, offense — defense —, topped the 1952-53 team that was built around Jim Dickey, an All-American senior at SMU this year.

The season began with a win but during the course of swimming broke his wrist. This was a forewarning of events to come. As the season progressed, so did the injuries. The team went on to win a total of 11 games against four upsets. The Year 10s also participated in the Normandy Christmas Tournament.

Suburban League title. Trying to win the Webster Groves Suburban League Tournament for the fifth consecutive time, Webster was upset by one point at the hands of Kirkwood. As the team entered the Webster Groves State Regional Tournament at the close of the season, Bob Barker was unable to see action, but Eureka was an easy victory. Against Sullivan Webster was a little shaky and they topped them again. In the final game the boys hit the ball well and had a 75-49 win over Alton. They were the runner-up, but deprived of a State Tournamen-

Players on the team had six individuals scored twenty points in at least one game. The team elected two of these as their co-captains, Lanny Larason and Bob Barker, at the unfortunate conclusion of a very

Having given two outstanding players [redacted] squad the team still managed to opponents suffered their only loss of the season, 6-14. The Leais from Kirby Maplewood were trampled even more than their varsity brothers in a 40-0 victory for the Gainesmen. Webster next met Kirkwood and ran circles around the Pioneers, 40-6. In the final game of the season the Gainesmen walked past the U. City Indians by a score of The Webster C team coached by Mr. Theodore, won four games and lost only two. Suffering from a split in personnel with the Hixson Junior High, the squad was still able to nip four strong league opponents.

Playing their first year of organized football didn't seem to pose much of a problem for these boys. They worked hard from the beginning learning the plays and fundamentals of football.

They opened their season against the Comets of Ferguson with a 2-0 win on a safety. Having gained momentum they ran over Brentwood with five touchdowns 33-0. The frosh outscored a usual good Ritenour squad by one touchdown, 13-6, and turned Maplewood away in a close, 6-0 victory. The Kirkwood Pioneers won 18-0 and the U. City Indians scalped the Statesmen by a score of 19-6.

Norman Schwesig, the leading scorer, was elected captain.

Sophomore Basketball

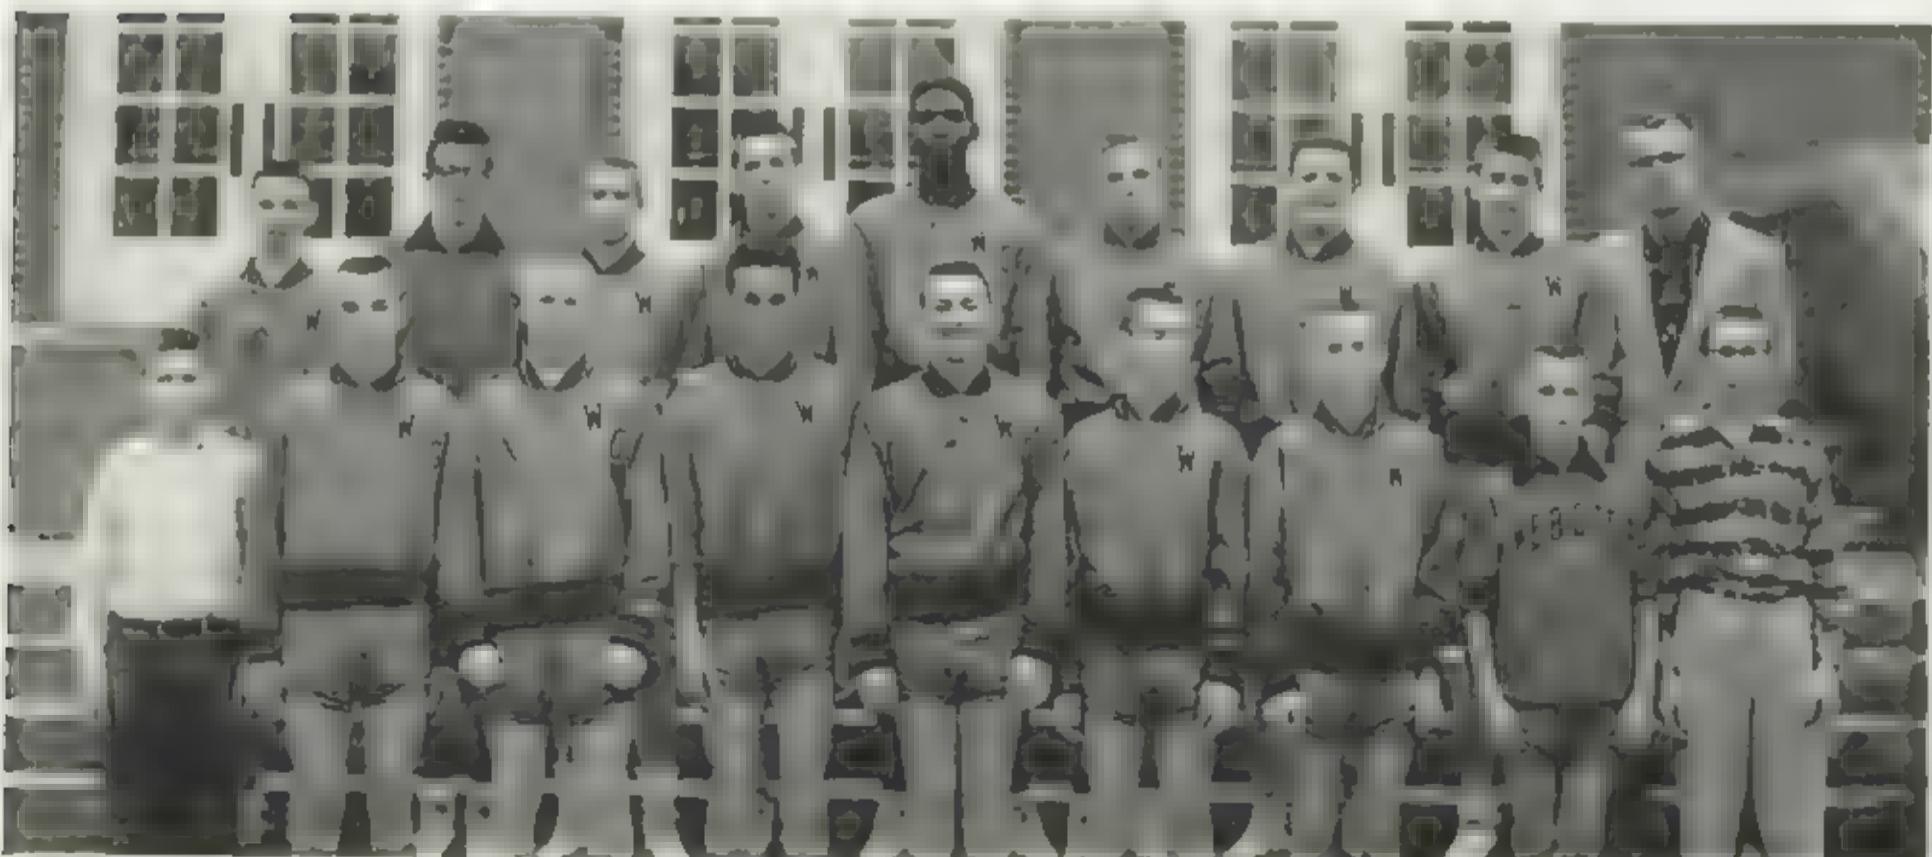

The Webster High Basketball team came into existence last year, having been the tradition of the older squads during the past years. Under the leadership of a new helmsman, Mr. C. E. Smith, who worked diligently to recruit players, joined on last year's team. It opened their season and played all their games on the same evening that the University did. They were not quite successful in the first season; however, they finished with ten wins with only two losses. This year has been a smooth road for the team, winning each game by an average of six points. From the results of the first half of the season, Webster should look forward to another good team again.

The Webster freshmen basketball team had a fine season with a fine coach, Mr. Schuchardt who was new this year on the Webster scene. Immediately after the football season the "C" basketball squad began developing plays and team work. They molded a group of boys who played earnestly to win but not at the expense of fair play and clean sportsmanship. The season ended with a very commendable nine and four record that included taking first place in the white division of the Suburban League Tournament. The Tournament consisted of two divisions with the teams for each division chosen at random from the Suburban League. Webster won the final game by one point against Kirkwood.

Wrestling

The 1957 wrestling season was a hard one as the squad met outstanding competition in the Suburban League. The grapplers managed, however, to win as many dual matches as they lost in compiling their creditable 7-7 record. Coach Bryant encouraged the team with forceful determination and hard practice. The team worked out every day, learning and practicing to stay in good condition. It was through the team's strenuous rib breaking work that they brought home five places from the State Tournament. John James and Mickey Stewart captured the highly prized first place trophies while Jim Bryan, Paul Simmons, and Warren Townsend managed to take fourth places in their weight divisions.

It is interesting to note that Mickey Stewart was unbeaten in two years of Missouri competition during which he won two state titles.

The 1956 baseball team compiled an 8-3 league record to take third place in the Suburban League. The squad had a total of eleven wins and eight losses for the season. Veteran Dick Hopkins was elected captain.

One of the highlights of the season occurred in the sixth league contest against Kirkwood April 24. Jerry Wolff, Roberts' Trophy winner, was on the mound. Jerry faced only twenty-two men, one short of a perfect game. He struck out fifteen, and the only man to reach base got there on a throwing error. Jerry continued his fine play at the plate, having five hits in five times at bat, including two homeruns. He totaled ten "runs batted in" and scored four runs himself, as Webster downed Kirkwood 17-0. This display of baseball was so spectacular that it was carried by the Associated Press and clippings were seen in Berlin, Germany.

Tennis

The tennis team this year, as in past years, has had an increased number of well grounded players showing an active interest. Through this interest Coach Eric Gass has been able to harvest a good, young team which captured the Missouri High School Doubles Championship in the early fall.

Spring practice began early in the cold of March. Some of the practice suits included Army Parkas, gloves, sweat pants, and sweat ers in order to keep out the cold. The team practiced three days a week during March and by the opening match in late April they were in good form. The team did very well in the Suburban League and they are looking forward to an even more profitable year ahead.

The Webster Golf team, which for five years had been unbeatable, suffered five losses this year. Since May 1950, in 74 dual matches Mr. Yates and his teams were unbeaten. Starting this season the golfers walked over their first two league opponents, John Burroughs and Kirkwood; however, while shooting for number 77, U. City managed to slide by with a four stroke margin to mar Webster's record. During the remainder of the 1956 campaign the Yates-men added five wins and four losses for a very good 7-5 record. The league competition was at times unsurmountable this year as Clayton carried home the Suburban League title and Saint Louis University High earned the district championship.

WINTER SPORTS
Hockey
The girls' ice hockey team signed up for the winter season. The team is composed of three local teams and one from the University of Michigan. The team will play its first game at the team team has a personal touch this year. The girls will receive personalized cards, designed by a teacher from Westland High School. The schools the Varsity, Senior Junior, and Sophomore teams play, Maple

As in years past, basketball was a very popular sport at Webster. This game which demands a great deal of stamina, precision, and alertness, was a challenge to over two hundred girls. The group was divided into two sections: coaching and intramurals. To be in coaching a girl had to pass a test of basketball. The intramural group was divided into approximately twenty teams, and the girls held a tournament among the

Basketball

These teams played games with clubs from several county high schools. The girls did well. The varsity team was composed of members of these three class teams. The climax of the season was the annual Sports Day which was held at Webster in February.

Volleyball

Volleyball is a favorite sport of all girls because it requires very few special skills. Therefore, many sophomore, junior, and senior girls participated in intramural volleyball held after school during February and March. The class teams were chosen from the intramural groups and competed against other country schools.

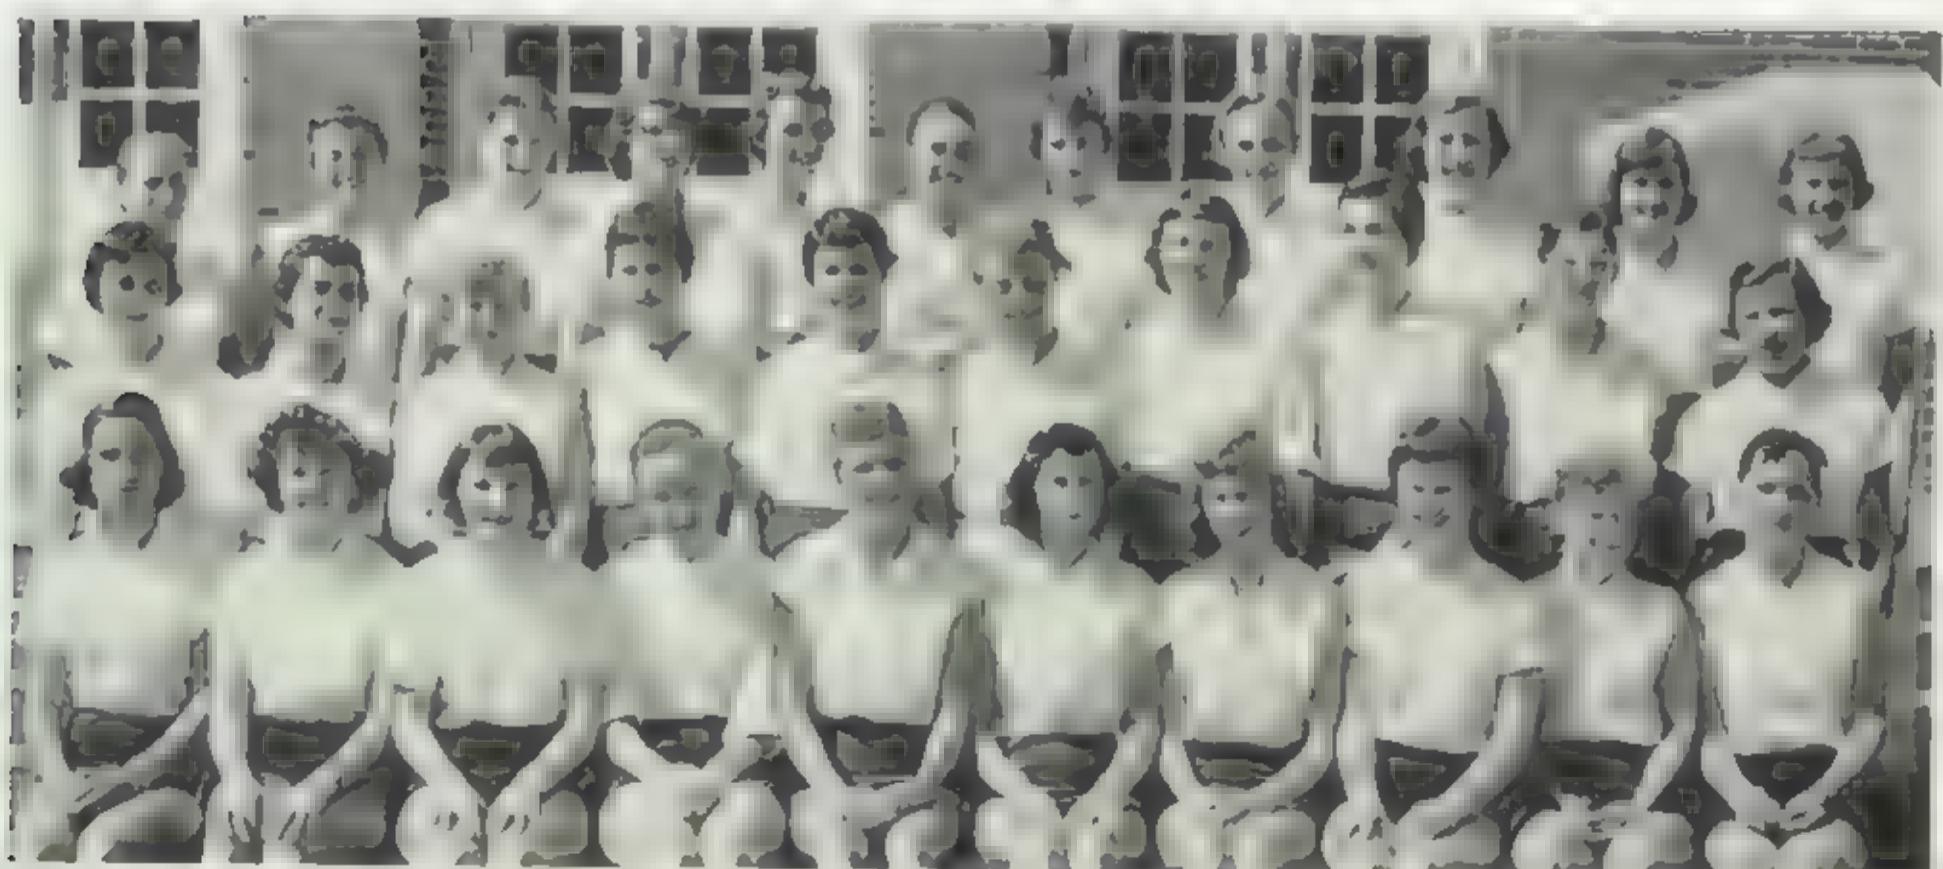

The girls' own outstanding ability caused them to be selected to play on the varsity team, which practiced several times a week. Every year Webster has had an unusually good volleyball team and last year's team was no exception. Although they lost to Bayless by a few points, they rallied to defeat Clayton and Maplewood by a wide margin. The teamwork and well-developed plays were shown by the class and varsity teams.

The softball season offered a final opportunity to the girls to show their sports ability and be on a class team. Many participated in the intramurals held after school. Not only the players were important, but also the umpires and scorers who were needed to officiate the games. These officials were chosen from a list of girls who volunteered at the first of the season.

Players who had shown outstanding ability during intramurals were given a chance to be on class teams, which competed against other county high schools. The varsity team was composed of sophomores, juniors and seniors who had done exceptionally well on a class team. Throughout the season the class and varsity teams excelled not only in good playing but also in good sportsmanship.

again the Bowling Club enjoyed a very successful year. The G.A.A. members were invited to take part in this sport, and approximately one hundred and fifteen girls signed up to participate in the tournaments. The teams were then divided into twenty-three teams of six players each.

The teams bowled at the alleys of their choice and turned in their scores to Miss Daniel, who was the sponsor of the group. Each round of the tournament was bowled at a different time. The teams had the privilege of playing several games and then turning in

The winner of the tournament was scheduled for games with several other schools. As in past years, Webster's team did quite well.

The Modern Dance Club, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Cissy Perry, was divided into intermediate and advanced sections. The intermediate club met in the senior girls gym on Thursday afternoons while the advanced group composed of those girls who had been in the club the previous year, held its meetings on Wednesdays.

For the first half of the year the modern dance club meetings consisted of numerous exercises which provided limberness, agility and gracefulness. Programs were also presented before groups

After Christmas the club began preparing and practicing dances for their approaching program. With the assistance of Mrs. Perry the club planned a variety of dances to set and popularize.

Officials

There is another group who are vital in the sports program at Webster. Those in charge of officiating a certain sport are given the opportunity to so indicate at the beginning of the year.

The girls in charge of basketball officiate several afternoons a week during the games. Most important, she must be a good judge of time.

For football, or sports, hockey, baseball, volleyball, and softball, there is a team manager of every class and varsity team.

Other jobs are linesman, referee, and umpires. The officials earn points which they can serve for giving up much time and expending much energy.

A familiar and welcome sight at all the games last year was the refreshment stand.

Before each home game the girls members of the G.A.A., volunteers from the club, served sno-cones and hot dogs, and soda. The concessionaires had fun while ing and also helped provide a means of increasing the treasury of the Girls Athletic Association.

For the past three years the Girls' Athletic Association has been active at Webster High School. The purpose of the organization is to maintain standards of good sportsmanship and fair play among the girls who participate in sports at Webster. In addition to basketball, tennis, swimming, football, and track, the G.A.A. had the opportunity to compete in golf.

Wendy Kunkel earned one hundred percent in her subjects, she was eligible for membership in the G.A.A. A second initiation was held in the spring for those who had not earned the necessary points for the first initiation. To retain her membership, each girl had to earn fifty points a semester, pay dues, and attend all G.A.A. meetings.

The work of the organization was not all in sports, however. In the fall a "Dad's Night" was held where the fathers recaptured their youth by square-dancing and running relay races with their daughters. In the spring G.A.A. sponsored the Kampus King Dance. Four boys, chosen by the Senior members of the organization, posed as Jacks for the evening; and Barbara Mester crowned the fifth, Kampus King.

Dear Harry Bear,

This is especially tough - you don't know how much we're going to miss you this summer. You know Harry, I've never known such an absolutely true girl. (The guy who finally gets you will be a winner!) But in the mean time - don't let the letters get you down.

I don't think I've ever forgot our travels - with John and others, with the County (Gees'd i.G.!) and just with curiosities. And I know I'll never forget your Captain's browed eyes and sympathetic understanding of peoples. I don't know when I'm going to find a wee friend like the one you'll leave. Dear Harry, try to write to me, okay?

Keep up your wit Suzy - it's priceless. It may sound funny to say "thank you" so sincerely - but thank you sure it up. Remember to hold your head high and kick 'em in the eye - and give 'em "that old Harry Bear warning - ! If you ever need advice, it's موجودی, or if I can help you, just tell me about it. I'll always do anything to help that I can. I'll always cherish your friendship. (I don't mean to sound like your dad - but I mean what I say.) I'm going to miss you so much you won't think!

Love, yours forever

It will soon be in blossom. You came to visit our place (having just two years) this summer. You have I made.
We had a day but mother and I were home -

This old garden has changed much - lots of fresh in all the years, varied, to a rich variety still -

Dear Miss Gould, dear, just as always it is a pleasure to sit and chat over a telegram but we have a really nice time in the office, though work is hard.)
We are now installed in our old office, and have been getting into the swing again, though it is still a bit of a shock to get used to the surroundings and the people, but we are getting along well, and I am sure you will be pleased to hear that we are all well, and happy.
With love to all,
Yours very truly,
John Gould

Dear Sue,
I am sorry that the year has been so quick, but it does feel so nice to know you. I do hope you didn't get to play that game because you were very soft like in my memory. I do like the pictures and your new future. I hope you miss me too.
